

melbourne Mobiles

What is Voice over Internet Protocol?

Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP) is the new and innovative way to make and receive phone calls. It involves the transmission of ordinary telephone calls over the Internet. In other words, VoIP can send voice over the Internet, rather than through the regular telephone network.

engin offers you VoIP as a low cost alternative for all your telephone needs. As an engin customer, you can make calls with any touch-tone telephone and receive calls from any type of phone on any service. If the person you are calling also has an engin number, those calls will be completely free from any engin charges.

engin offers outstanding Call Quality. Our call quality ensures that all of our customers have both a clear and reliable communications service.

Here are a few examples of how engin allows you to take advantage of VoIP technology and save you money.

Make MASSIVE Savings with an engin Voice Box or Softphone

Allow engin to reduce your phone bills and offer you the flexibility of choice when making phone calls. Choose between three outstanding products, the engin Voice Box, the engin Voice Box Series 2 and the engin Softphone.

If you enjoy the freedom of making calls from your regular home phone, then the engin Voice Box is for you!

The engin Voice Box is the new way to reduce your phone bill using a normal home phone. The Voice Box is packed with included Features, and it allows you to call any phone number worldwide.

Introducing engin Voice Box

The Engin Voice Box is the new way to make MASSIVE savings on your phone bill!

The role of the Voice Box is to convert your analogue phone signal to digital so that it can be sent over your broadband Internet connection, as opposed to the plain old telephone system. The Voice Box connects to any touch-tone phone, corded, cordless or DECT phone allowing you to make and receive calls as you normally would.

Make your telephone service suit your lifestyle. The Voice Box is packed with Included features enabling you to manage your calls and personalise your telephone service.

To begin making MASSIVE savings on your phone bills, simply select a call plan to match your needs and order your Voice Box.

Melbourne Mobiles Team